Admission Handbook

Introduction

National Taiwan Normal University (hereinafter as NTNU) offers the Educators of International Education Program (EIEP) as a strand of the International Baccalaureate Educator Certificate (IBEC) programs. The program strand aims to prepare in-service teachers for worldwide IB schools and enrich education quality in Taiwan. The EIEP at NTNU has been officially recognized by the International Baccalaureate Organization (IBO) in 2019. Students who successfully complete program requirements will be issued with the “IB certificate in Teaching and Learning.”

The program aims to engage in-service teachers to explore contemporary educational theories and IB education pedagogy, as well as to become reflective teachers capable of implementing all-around education through inquiry instruction. The in-service teachers enrolling in this program are guided to familiarize with principles and practices of IB education with a focus on Middle Years Program (MYP) or Diploma Program (DP). They are also expected to acquire both theoretical and practical sense of IB education, in order to develop their students to be “inquiring, knowledgeable and caring young people” and “active, compassionate and lifelong learners.”

Enrollment, Application eligibility and Program Duration

The EIEP accommodates up to 35 students. The University reserves the right to discontinue courses for which there is not sufficient enrollment. This 1-year program consists of 12 credits of required courses. The program accepts applications from candidates who fulfill the requirements as follows:

1. Applicants with either bachelor's degree awarded by universities or independent colleges recognized by Taiwan's Ministry of Education (MoE) or with equivalent qualification to apply a master program.
2. Applicants with teacher certificates accredited by Taiwan's MoE or foreign governments.
3. In-service teachers working in primary or secondary schools or those who have at least one year teaching experience in primary or secondary schools. Proofs of employment are required.

- (3) No refunds will be offered after completion of one third of the semester.
- (4) If the number of students registered for each course is less than 12, the University reserves the right to cancel the course and refund the fees paid without any interest. Students should remain no objection for this regulation.

Program Requirements

1. Course Credits:

- (1) This credit program consists of four courses, which will be held during the weekends according to the instructors' schedule. Three required courses will be offered in two semesters from October 2025 to June 2026. Two elective courses will be offered in the summer of July 2026 (choose either one course).

- (2) Students who have passed the course will be issued EIEP program completion certificate as records of empowerment.
- (3) Students who are absent for up to (and including) one-third of the total number of hours in each course or who fail in that course will not be issued a certificate of credit for that course.
2. Workshop attendance: Attend IB seminars or workshops organized by NTNU for at least 15 hours.
  3. IB workshop attendance: Attend one of the IB official workshops and obtain a completion certificate.
  4. Proof of English language proficiency: Submit proof of a B2 or higher English proficiency equivalent to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) for listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Native English-speaking foreign teachers are exempt from this requirement, but must provide a copy of their passport.
  5. After meeting the above requirements, students must submit documents including 1) EIEP program completion certificate, 2) Teacher Certificate, 3) Degree Diploma, 4) certificates of workshop hours, 5) completion certificate of IB workshop, and 6) English proficiency certificate to the College of Teacher Education at NTNU. (items 4-6, the time of acquisition should be within two years prior to the application date for the IBEC certificate.) After verifying, the office will submit the list of students who successfully completed all the requirements for the IB T&L Certificate to the IBO. Students who are eligible will be notified by the IBO regarding the certificate costs.
  6. The application for the IB T&L Certificate must be completed within two years after the completion of the course.

7. The course mode is as follows:

Course	IB Philosophy and Practices	Curriculum Development and Design	Learning Assessment	Teaching and Learning in the IB MYP	Teaching and Learning in the IB DP
Mode	in planning	online	online	online	online

The “IB Philosophy and Practices” is fundamental and crucial in introducing IB education. To ensure the quality of instruction, it is recommended to face to face classes. Students in the Online Continuing Education Master's Program of Teaching Chinese as a Foreign Language or those with other reasons may apply to take online courses. The review committee will assess and approval for online courses based on individual circumstances.
